“ She might have been the most impactful design professor I ever had as well as a great friend- because that's how she was as a person. I am so sad to see this; i will miss her dearly.

“ We were neighbors of Mary on Linden Avenue in Bolton Hill for many years. Being a homeowner on Linden Avenue gave one an automatic entry into a very special group of people most of whom were renovating beautiful old townhouses to their former beauty. Neighbors looked out for each other, and helped whenever needed. We got to know one or Mary's large furry cats by feeding her occasionally while Mary was out of town.

Mary left a positive impact us and many others her with her contagious smile. intelligence, and independence. Mary, we will miss your presence in our world.

*Lovingly,
Lauren and Jordan Loran*

“ I was blessed to meet Mary a dozen years ago when an old friend of mine in the printing business brought us together. Mary was a gifted graphic designer and marketing professional; I was a writer and editor, now retired. Together, we worked magic. Mary made work enjoyable—always cheerful, optimistic and so creative! When she moved back to her childhood home and established her office there, Mary was only three miles from me. Our friendship blossomed. We could talk for hours about all sorts of subjects, sometimes while sipping herbal tea in front of cozy fire. Mary loved her family dearly and treasured her memories with them playing card and board games, piecing together complicated puzzles, and celebrating every holiday with lots of food and good cheer, especially Christmas! Her light still shines.
